STATESBORO CITIZEN IMPORTANT INVESTOR

JESSE BRANNEN UNDERTAKES MOVE TO GROW CHRISTMAS TREES FOR THE FUTURE.

The Westwood Chronicle (Westwood, N. J.), in its issue of December 13th, played up rather prominently on its front page a statement of Jesse Brannen, a native of Statesboro, Ga., who has been in the Statesboro citizen, Jesse E. Brannen, was the central figure.

Mr. Brannen is a son of Judge and Mrs. J. F. Brannen. For the past fifteen years or so he has been connected with the Bank at Westwood.

Incidentally he engages in real estate affairs, in which line he has made a signal success.

The story from the Chronicle is as follows:

"Just about this time of the year the kiddies' fancy turns to thoughts of Christmas trees. How many will be needed by the youngsters of this community for any given year depends entirely on the number of little folks. So it is impossible to estimate the needs in this line for Christmas time, 1924. If the demand does not exceed 7500 it is likely that the local supply will be able at that time to take care of the demand."

"But before telling the reader about the Christmas trees let us begin at the beginning and tell a little rather ancient history. A quarter-century ago two gentlemen, named McClave and Davies, bought what was known as the Felter farm, a tract of 85 1/2 acres located 1 1/2 miles west of the railroad depot here. This was known as the McClave & Davies Real Estate Co.

"After the death of both of these men their heirs formed a corporation to hold the property, but never did anything to develop or improve it. It laid north of Stillwood Road, with a frontage of 1300 feet. Until the house burned down about ten years ago the farm was tenanted by the late Conrad Engel, a prominent citizen of this section. For a long time, in an interview with the new owner it was learned that he intends to retain the property for some time, but eventually it is to be opened as a strictly residential development. Mr. Brannen previously owned 20 acres adjoining the present purchase. This too, will be included in the development."

"As a beginning, Mountain avenue has been opened parallel with Lafayette avenue, 600 feet west of it, and a cross street opened between the two. All of the property is located in Washington Township, with an average elevation of probably 70 feet or more. At present a number of 10-foot fire hazards are being plowed through the entire tract, for safety."

"Now comes the part of the story that promises special pleasure for the children. Mr. Brannen has purchased 15,000 Christmas trees from the State, with which he will carry on a plan of re-forestation, under guidance of the Department of Conservation and Development."

"To be sure, the trees are only little ones, each about 18 inches high, but they will be growing while our youngsters grow and five years from now half of them will be ready to cut for Christmas. They, the trees, not the children, are to be planted for kind Santa Claus to bring presents on for the boys and girls of a half-dozen years from now."

AGED LADY PASSES AWAY LEAVING INTERESTING RECORD

There died at Porton on the 7th of the present month an aged lady whose history extends so far into the past as to make her passing a matter of more than ordinary note.

She was Mrs. Elizabeth Hendrix, who was born December 19, 1838, and whose age, therefore, lacked eleven days of being 86 years. The funeral was conducted at the Methodist church in Porton by Elder J. Hendrix, of Atlanta, a relative of the deceased and pastor of Lotz Creek Primitive Baptist church.

In his remarks at the grave, Elder Hendrix dealt with the facts pertaining to her life, and it was these facts, jotted down by J. W. Park, the undertaker in charge, who thoughtfully brought them to the Times, that form the basis for this story.

Mrs. Hendrix was the daughter of Wiley Hendrix, who was born in 1790 and was 9 years of age when George Washington, the first president of the United States, died. Mrs. Hendrix's grandfather was Daniel Hendrix, who came to Bulloch county in the early part of the 18th century, nearly two hundred years ago, and settled near where the town of Porton now stands. He obtained a grant of 2,000 acres of land direct from the King of England, which tract included the very land in which the town of Porton stands. Later selling 1,000 acres of the land for a mere pittance, Mr. Hendrix reserved the right to such timber as he might need for the making of ashes for soap and such other timber as he might require. It is interesting to note that three generations of the name Hendrix was the last survivor, carry on back more than two hundred years—back to the time when few of the present-day conveniences were even dreamed of.

Mrs. Hendrix is survived by one daughter (Mrs. E. Daughtry) and forty-four grandchildren.

SANTA CLAUS HAS SOME RAILROADING TO DO THIS YEAR

folks live in the various sections of Southern Georgia and are representative from the standpoint of geography."

Mr. McCroon seemed very anxious to have the people of the state know that the trustees of the college here are anxious to be of real educational service. He said, "Gov. Walker has been a real servant of education in appointing trustees for the college for their fitness to serve rather than because of their political affiliations. These men and women want to have a first class educational college for the people of the state and they will lend any effort possible to secure this advantage for our people. If you have suggestions to make on educational problems that you want advice on, see or write them. We want to serve."

WILL HAVE FIREWORKS ON CHRISTMAS EVENING

C. M. Cumming has taken the initiative in providing for a public display of fireworks for the entertainment of the people of Statesboro and surrounding community Christmas evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. A fund of $100 has been contributed by public subscription and a splendid quantity of fireworks, all of which was damaged by water. Work of repairing the building is already under way.

Monday night's fire was in the negro section known as Cotton avenue, and three residences were destroyed, including those of William James, principal of the colored school, and the home of John Blandshaw, a well known colored farmer. The fire is said to have started in the Blandshaw home, and is supposed to have been the work of Blandshaw, who has been in the hospital condition following a stroke of paralysis several months ago. His wife was employed away from home for the evening and left Blandshaw in the home alone. Shortly after her departure the fire was discovered. Blandshaw was rescued from the house with difficulty. The fire department rendered what assistance was possible, but three homes in the block were destroyed before the flames were subdued.

This last fire damage was in the block adjoining the colored school property under James' control which was destroyed only about a month ago. That this well known colored leader is having a rather hard line of luck is admitted by all his friends who are familiar with the circumstances. As to the previous damage, however, James had already begun plans for complete rally. Checks have been pouring into him from friends North and South with which to rebuild the school, a number for sums as high as $500 having been received from former supporters of the school in the North. Local friends also have contributed generously, at least one of the most generous having subscribed $100 to the fund.

The pastor will speak Sunday morning on "Paul; His Pride," and will also deliver a sermon on the school in the North. Local friends also have contributed generously, at least one of the most generous having subscribed $100 to the fund.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend the services and enter into its spirit of help and Christmas cheer.

THE COLD BLOODED COMMERCIAL TRUTH! WE ARE GOING TO SELL THIS STOCK ON THE SQUARE!

You all know us. You know that in the years we have been in the business we have played a square game with you. You are the people who have patronized us, and in selling this entire stock, we still intend to play that square game with you, our friends and customers. We know that to close out this entire stock it will be necessary to sell this merchandise far below any and every merchant in this section of Georgia. We know we have got to take a loss—but our loss will be a gain to you people who have stood by us when we needed you, and we are going to cut loose. We are going to put this stock out at prices so low that you will remember these bargains long after the good are worn out by hard wear. The bars are down. A boy in a Vermont grade school can speak five languages. But he can only plow corn in one of them.
Simple Dresses Call for Chic Accessories
As long as the regime for simple dresses lasts, the importance of dress accessories will be maintained. Women look to neckwear, costume jewelry, corage ornaments, girdles and the like, for that touch of sophistication which the simple frock, or plain suit, needs. It is the upkeep of this attractive apparel that keeps us busy feeling for ways and means of varying it and giving it character.
Above is a group of pretty accessories made of ribbon. The two boxes are made of wide metal brocade. At the left, black and silver is used, lined with green silk, suspended on a silver chain and finished with a silver tassel. Several colors, and the glint of gold appear in the bag with a Altagee mounting. An unbranded ribbon and bow through warm tan and brown shades, makes the pretty girdle, and plaid taffeta the collar and cuff set. The pieces are covered with narrow satin ribbon in red, and tiny gilt buttons or beads are set on the binding.

FOR S. S. CLASSES.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. McDougald delightfully entertained their Sunday school classes last Monday evening at their home on North Main street with a lawn party and marshmallow roast. Many games were played and much fun was had by all. Delicious fruit punch was served throughout the evening.

About fifty young people enjoyed the occasion.

FOR MRS. KUYKENDALL.

Mrs. E. L. Kuykendall, who left Wednesday for Augusta to make her home, was the honor guest at a lovely party Friday afternoon, given by her Sunday school class at the home of Mrs. A. A. Dorman.

The entire lower floor was thrown open, revealing a holiday spirit, which was carried out in the decorations.

After numerous games were enjoyed, the honor guest, who was president of the class, was presented with a box of powder and a dainty puff, also a hand-painted wish-book in which each guest wrote a wish for the future.

Mrs. Inman Foy, Mrs. Grover Brannen and Mrs. Edward Oliver assisted Mrs. Dorman in serving a salad course.

FOR T. E. L. CLASS.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. E. C. Rogers was hostess to the T. E. L.'s of the Baptist church at a Christmas party. The dining room where the guests were entertained was especially lovely in its unique arrangement of holly and other Christmas emblems.

Mrs. Santa Claus was present with a basket of dolls which she asked the guests to dress in their class colors of green and white for the Baptist orphanage.

Mrs. Homer Rogers, of Cincinnati, O., charmed the guests with several beautiful vocal solos.

During the afternoon each guest was presented with a gift, this being their annual gift party.

Mrs. Rogers was assisted in entertaining and serving a delicious salad course and black coffee by Mrs. O. N. Bery and Mrs. Homer Rogers.

MRS. NATTIE ALLEN.

After a ten-days' illness, Mrs. Nattie Allen died at an early hour this morning, her death being due to blood poisoning which developed from an apparently trivial blister upon her lip ten days ago.

Interment will be in East Side cemetery Friday morning.

Deceased is survived by her husband, three sons and a daughter, besides her father, J. W. Williams, one sister, Mrs. J. W. Holland, and four brothers, Messrs. J. D., L. W., F. I. and George S. Williams.

PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN

According to Walter McDougald it's a slow hen that can't extract herself from beneath an auto without leaving a pound of feathers wound up in the flywheel.

The main objection some housewives have to the aluminum frying pan is that it's too light to spank the children with.

"Franklin was a wonderful man," declares Judge Fields. "He invented the printing press, chained the lightning, and then married a woman who made fun of him."

If a woman cashier ever absconded with a bank's fund she'd never get any farther than the first store that was putting on a sale.

"When the average man crawls out from under an auto wreck the first thing he wants is a drink," asserts Chas. Pigue, "and the first thing a woman starts hunting for is a powder puff."

A Chicago man got 10 years for swindling the public out of several million dollars in a stock deal. It's a good thing for him that he didn't steal a chicken.

"I've met several fellows," says Pete Donaldson, "who act as though they thought the government ought to pay them for the time they spend figuring out their income tax returns."

PORTAL SCHOOL NEWS

School will close Friday, Dec. 19th, for Christmas and will open again Monday, Dec. 29th.

The play given by the high school pupils the evening of Dec. 9th was well attended in spite of the fact that it was a rainy night. The P. T. A. sold candies, sandwiches, and drinks from which they realized a neat sum to aid their fund. We thank all the mothers who furnished material as well as those who did the work in helping our P. T. A. in raising this money. These ladies are doing a work of service and they deserve the cooperation of every person in our school district.

Portal and Middle Ground played a game of basket ball on our court last Friday afternoon. The score was 16 to 9 in favor of Portal. We have played five games and have lost only one.

The Grady and Stephens Literary societies held their regular contest Friday afternoon. They contested in debate, declamation, reading, and Latin. The Grady won the contest. The highest grades were made by Josie Mae Clark in reading and Mary Jane Bowen in debate. The next contest will come after the Christmas holidays.

The small girls have a new volley ball court and are looking forward to some exciting games.

A number of boys are interested in pitching horseshoes, and from the yelling and cheering they do one would judge the matches to be exciting.

We are glad to see any new game introduced on our grounds if it develops strength or skill and holds the interest of boys and girls who might otherwise be in mischief.
